

Gun control in the USA

[The corpus's cartoon epitomises the fight over gun control between President Obama and the NRA.] [One can indeed wonder who or what is to reign over arms bearing for the better of the people.]

[The New York Times editorial issued one day after the Connecticut mass shooting, a contemporary poem by Billy Collins, an article from the Washington Post prior to Obama's re-election, a satirical cartoon and the text of the Second Amendment, tackle this question from different angles.]

[The present situation is thus exposed as well as its consequences to enhance the need for more gun control.]
